Interested in intersecting health & economic development challenges in small & tribal southwestern communities? then register for the

RURAL HEALTH SERVICE LEARNING COURSE

Service-Learning Institute ♦ August 10-15, 2015

(CPH597D - 1 Credit - fulfills MCH/FCH, HBHP & PHP requirements)

During this inter-professional week-long, field-based course you will:

➢ Learn about epidemiologic and economic trends, frontier/rural population health, and health access issues in Graham County and the San Carlos Apache Reservation.
➢ Assess health impacts of low population density, cotton farming & copper mining.
➢ Collaborate with diverse community partners to implement service-learning projects that address community health needs.

Course Faculty:
Leila Barraza, J.D., M.P.H.
Kerstin M. Reinschmidt, Ph.D., M.P.H.

Registration is limited to 15 students.

Travel/Food/Lodging is covered for all students!
Students are responsible for one-credit of summer semester tuition.

For more information about CPH 597D and how to register, please send a brief email explaining your interest to
Leila Barraza at lbarraza@email.arizona.edu

Sponsored by the Rural Health Professions in partnership with Eastern Arizona Area Health Education Program (EAHEC) and the Arizona Area Health Education Center Program